

Stillness awarded Primary Science Quality Mark!

We are delighted to announce that Stillness Infant School has been awarded the Primary Science Quality Mark! This award recognises the engaging science teaching and learning that our pupils experience here. A big thank you to our dedicated teaching team for the hard work and enthusiasm they have put in to developing our science curriculum.

The Primary Science Quality Mark is led by the University of Hertfordshire, School of Education in collaboration with the Primary Science Teaching Trust. Schools that achieve PSQM demonstrate commitment and expertise in science teaching and leadership.

Jane Turner, PSQM National Director stated: “Gaining a Primary Science Quality Mark is a significant achievement for a school. The profile and quality of science teaching and learning in each awarded school is very high. Children are engaging with great science both in and outside the classroom, developing positive attitudes towards science as well as secure scientific understanding and skills. Science subject leaders, their colleagues, head teachers, children, parents and governors should be very proud.”

We look forward to another exciting year of Science!
